

June 2006

SeayCo Integrators Inc. and D. L. Neu were recently awarded the contract to design a new wave control system for Unified Western Grocers. Unified is a retailer-owned wholesale grocery cooperative, headquartered in California, that services the Western United States. With over $3 billion in sales, Unified is expanding with a new facility that will combine perishable goods and dry grocery items. The advanced wave control system provided by D.L. Neu and SeayCo will be capable of sorting 140 cartons per minute and will utilize the latest RF scanning technology. Located in Stockton, California, the plant will be operational by second Quarter 2007.

About SeayCo Integrators Inc. SeayCo has been a leader in the development of custom software and controls solutions to the conveyor industry since 1992.

About DL Neu & Associates DL Neu provides conceptual, layout and detail product and system engineering for material handling clients.